

Note on use of signage templates:

If using these signage templates on public land in the Republic of Ireland, please use the bilingual version, which has been deemed compliant by An Coimisinéir Teanga with the Regulations made under the Official Languages Act. If adding text or logos, there is no requirement to translate the name of a private company or organisation and logos are also exempted (however translation of straplines is usually required).

Care should be used when displaying a Public Body's name on signage to ensure that it is in compliance with the language Regulations.
