

Life Cycle: Bumblebees

Most bumblebee queens emerge from hibernation in early spring. Some species are associated with grassland floras and don't emerge from hibernation until early summer when these resources are most likely to be available.

